

Foreign Teachers Wanted

Job Title: English Language Teacher / Content Subject Teacher (Through the Medium of English)

Employer: Guangxi Normal University (GXNU)

Location: Guilin, Guangxi, P. R. China

School Introduction:

Guangxi Normal University, located in the world-famous culturally historic city of Guilin, has grown into a nationally renowned comprehensive university, featuring a distinctive Education department nationally renowned for studies of literature and well-developed disciplines of the sciences and the arts. Alongside this stands an active, diverse and consistently expanding College of International Culture and Education.

What to Expect from Working Here?

A vibrant international community of staff and students working within a beautiful jewel of southern China to educate students to a high level of English skill. A supportive network of administration and fellow foreign teaching staff able to provide aid in adjusting to life in China, working within an academic atmosphere, and to welcome those already experienced in this environment to a comfortable and rewarding position.

What We Expect from You

We are looking for enthusiasm to work both as an independent teacher capable of creativity in lessons and a team player ready to work amongst the community of teachers to provide a consistently high level of education to our students.

Job Description:

International Staff play a key role at Guangxi Normal University (GXNU). GXNU is revolutionary in many ways including hiring from amongst their foreign teachers Directors of International Staff to lead meetings, manage the day to day operations of teachers, liaise between teachers and administration, and provide consistent vocational training. GXNU employs one of the largest communities of international staff in the region to teach students specializing in foreign language learning. Teachers here teach English, Japanese, Korean, western history, culture, geography, literature, business studies, economics, cross cultural communication, and other subjects through the medium of English.

Teachers work within modalities, such as English reading and writing, following semester long guidelines and goals for their subjects, supported by accompanying teaching materials, but are encouraged to be creative in their styles of teaching and lesson planning. There is a great deal of creative freedom in how you teach your students. Beyond weekly lessons, you will also be expected to work within your modality to create an exam each semester and grade the exams of the class groups you teach.

GXNU teachers are not only involved in teaching but also join in other activities such as language exchange events, complimentary Chinese language classes, cultural seminars, countryside trips, and judging student competitions. The international staff enjoy variety in their careers and contribute to building a culturally rich campus life. There are plenty of opportunities to develop your Chinese language and other transferable skills.
